

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Kayla Gomes
cynthialinpr@gmail.com

San Francisco Ukulele Sensation, Cynthia Lin, Embarks on Nationwide Tour with Revived Ukulele Days Album

San Francisco, California – May 5, 2018. Today Cynthia Lin, ukulele songstress and host of one of the top 5 most popular ukulele channels on YouTube, is kicking off her nationwide tour with events throughout the United States. Featuring her album Ukulele Days, the tour will combine concert and festival performances with fan “meet and greets” plus ukulele workshops and jam sessions. Ukulele Days is being made available for the first time on vinyl and CD in addition to digital download.

Due to her elevated online presence from sharing Ukulele tutorials and live-streaming events on YouTube since 2013, Cynthia has amassed a large following. Beginning in Reno, Nevada today (May 5), the tour will pass through Old Town Lansing, Michigan (May 11-13); New York, New York (May 15-16); Honolulu, Hawaii (June 23); and San Francisco, California (July 14). Additional tour information can be found on Cynthia Lin’s events page via her website.

“There’s a palpable electricity in the room when ukulele players come together to sing and make music. During this tour, I am especially excited to visit communities that I don’t often have the opportunity to engage with in person,” said Cynthia Lin.

Ukulele Days was originally released in July of 2017 after Cynthia participated in #The100DayProject with the goal of playing a ukulele song and recording a video for YouTube every day for 100 days. The album is a collection of fan favorites from her #100DaysofUkuleleSongs project and includes classic songs such as La Vie En Rose, Hawaiian and jazz standards, as well as hits from the Beatles and Beyoncé. Ukulele Days hit #13 on the World Billboard Charts and #15 on the Jazz Billboard Charts (alongside Diana Krall and Norah Jones) in its first week of sales.

“Like many creative projects, I didn’t know where the 100 Days of Ukulele Songs project would lead. I loved hearing from my fans how surprised they were by the ukulele’s versatility across musical genres, and how the project changed their perceptions of ukulele and even inspired them to pick it up as their first instrument.”

Ukulele Days costs $25 on limited edition vinyl, $15 on CD and .99 per track on digital download.

To learn more and/or set up a meeting or an interview with Cynthia Lin, please contact Kayla Gomes at cynthialinpr@gmail.com.

###

About Cynthia Lin

Since 2013, Cynthia Lin has shared free ukulele tutorials and arrangements on YouTube in order to spread the joy of ukulele and help people grasp the basics of the instrument with her approachable teaching style. Her YouTube channel has been viewed over 20 million times and she has more than 189,000 subscribers. She is supported by over 1800 patrons on Patreon, leads the San Francisco Uke Jam community and founded the first San Francisco Uke-tober Festival.

As a singer-songwriter, Cynthia has released 6 album recordings independently and performs regularly solo, with a jazz combo, and with her acclaimed Bay Area band, Cynthia Lin and the Blue Moon All Stars. She encourages everyone to follow their passion. To learn more, please visit www.cynthialin.com.